ACA New England Meeting News

More than 125 Mainers attended The American Camp Association of New England Conference in Manchester, NH. Jessica Decke, Andy Lilienthal, Whitney McMullan, Doug Sutherland, Chris Wentworth, Steve Sudduth, and Jack Erler were workshop presenters.

Andy Lilienthal, MSC President and Garth Altenberg, Past MSC President at ACANE meeting

At a Friday evening social hour many MSC folks had the opportunity to thank Mary Ellen Deschenes for all that she has done for MSC. On Saturday morning, 80 MSC members attended our semi-annual meeting. Norway Savings Bank and Chalmers Insurance Group sponsored a delicious continental breakfast. During the MYCA portion of the meeting it was announced that Peter Hirsch from Camp Androscoggin will be Interim President of MYCA until the Annual Meeting on June 6th. Peter is replacing Steve Sudduth who recently stepped down from his role as MYCA President to assume his new position as President of ACANE. Congratulations Steve!

MSC Spring Board Meeting at SYSCO Food Show

Once again, SYSCO of Northern New England is teaming up with our association to bring camps a day that is worth the trip to Portland! SYSCO presents its Spring Food Showcase on the same day as the MSC Spring Board Meeting which will take place at the Holiday Inn By the Bay in downtown Portland.

The food show runs from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. so plan to bring your chef or food service staff for a profitable day of new products, sampling, and early ordering opportunities.

Maine Summer Camp Fair Report

The 2014 Maine Summer Camps Camp Fair was held at the East End School in Portland on March 16th. Seventy-one camps signed up for tables at this year's fair, and during the four hours 675 attended the fair.

We were also joined by Slugger, the Portland Sea Dogs mascot and Gusto's Gourmet Food Truck. The feedback from camps was very positive. Events such as this would not be possible without the help of some very dedicated MSC volunteers; Tom Doherty, Matt Pines, Judy Crosby, Andy Lilienthal, Kate Smith, Barry Costa, Jen Bonnett, and Catriona Sangster. Thank You!

President's Column

Andy Lilienthal

Now that the sun's heat is being felt here in Maine, the signal that camp will again open is fresh upon us. There is so much to do and so much to think about as we take the amalgam of our year's learning and add it to our camp's lexicon.

Like baseball fans whose hopes and dreams lie with their favorite teams enjoying a superlative season, so do many of us dream of how camp will be this summer: the perfect staff that walks the line between fun and responsible, the cadre of elder campers that lead their younger brethren by positive example, the parents who lend you sagacious and insightful advice about their children while you, the Director and Leader, press all the right buttons and empower your staff in just the perfect way, all culminating with a community feeling edified, exhausted and hungry for more.

Camp probably won't happen exactly like this but what a great goal to strive for. And it certainly can't happen if you put your head down, simply cross your fingers and wish very hard. However, we are in the enviable position to not just hope but rather, to create change among our communities by focusing on the needs and desires of our population with heads up and eyes open.

Increasingly, many of our camps are the refuge where people come to be their most natural and relaxed selves, where campers and staff can live in community without judgment. Where they can be themselves, perhaps dress like the opposite gender on stage and try new activities without fear. A place where a modicum of discomfort creates clarity and life-long memories seared into souls.

We are the enablers of profound growth and learning, which is hard work. (If it were not such hard work, a lot more people would be doing it). How to make it easier? It is important to remember that no matter your program, the essence of child development comes from some basic premises; learning, friendship and safety. Whether your camp is a liberal arts program or stresses the arts, athletics, wilderness trips, science or something else, the same basic constructs help children succeed and feel positive about their experiences.

In the past year, I have heard continually from campers, staff and parents that they are stressed, scared, worried, too busy and unable to be themselves because of real or perceived pressures. There are many reasons for this that I am sure many of you are aware of. What I think so interesting is that so many of those same people look to camp as the antidote to what is happening in the "rest of their lives."

Increasingly, I feel the growing importance of camp as a fulcrum to remind people of how life should be. How people, when put together, can treat each other respectfully and lovingly, and how wonderful a feeling it can be to be yourself without judgment, pressure or perceived risk. For many, the concept of camp is increasingly foreign as the majority of their lives are disparate shadows of what we know camp can be.

May this summer be your World Series Summer. The one where fundamentals are solid, your community philosophy is grounded in universal concepts and as the "manager", you watch as each "player" discovers their role and fulfills it to the hilt.

May it be the best summer of your life.

News from the Maine Youth Camp Association

MYCA is the sister organization to Maine Summer Camps. It focuses on governmental relations for summer camps in Maine. It is a 501c4 non-profit. For more information, contact MYCA at 207-518-9557.

Navigating the Wilderness of Maine Trip Leader Regulations

Over the past 18 months MSC has been working with the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife to revamp the procedures and requirements for Trip Leader permits. The first step was to disband the old committee and create a new Trip Leader Permit Task Force Committee. Currently there are 5 members from Maine youth camps and 3 from IF&W on this committee. Greg Shute from Chewonki is the chair of the committee.

MSC cannot thank the committee and Jack Erler enough for all their hard work in helping to preserve and improve the TLP program. Over the past month we have provided two opportunities for camps to learn about all of the changes in the regulations. Chris Wentworth and Jack Erler ran a session on this topic at the ACA New England Conference, and two weeks later Chris did a webinar presentation that was attended by 31 people (8 in person and 23 online). Since then a packet of information covering the changes, including an outline of the new curriculum, was emailed to member camps. If for any reason you did not receive this email please contact Margi at the MSC office.

Maine New Hire Reporting Required

Maine employers are required to report information about newly hired or rehired employees to the Maine Department of Health and Human Services, Maine Child Support: Division of Support & Recovery (DSER).

The purpose is to enable the DSER or a similar agency in another state to obtain or enforce orders against persons who have failed to pay required child support. The report is due within 7 days of each hire or rehire and must include a specific list of information for any employee who receives a W-2 form and any independent contractor who will be paid $2,500 or more in a year. Failure to file a report subjects the employer to a civil penalty of up to $200 per month for each violation.

For more information go to: <https://www.maine.gov/dhhs/ofi/dser/employer/faq.html>

To report new employees go to: <https://portal.maine.gov/newhire/>

Maine Summer Camp Breakfast Meeting

The first MSC breakfast of the season was held at the Stone Dog Cafe in Windham on April 14. It was such a success that we will have a second breakfast in May. If you missed it you'll now have another opportunity on May 12th at 8:30 am (location to be determined). RSVP on the Facebook Maine Camp Directors Group or call the MSC office.

Spring 2014

Chris Thurber Workshop Positive Psychology in Action

Tuesday, July 8

Camp Wawenock, Raymond

Turn the tables on traditional thinking about how you bond with campers, manage their behavior and tap their potential. This workshop will challenge you to move forward with a courageous and fundamentally different approach to achieving greatness as a youth development professional. Human beings are wired to detect differences, which means we notice when things go wrong. But when that negative mindset anchors relationships at camp, it hinders happiness, creativity and friendship.

Positive psychology is a cutting-edge approach that offers new pathways to optimal functioning and expert leadership. Participants will leave with a new mindset and plenty of practical take-home activities to help campers behave well and feel great.

Hold the Date! October 22, 2014

For a workshop with Rick Stryker

Sponsored by Maine Summer Camps

National camp expert will present sessions on Principles of Leadership, Environmental Impact of Daily Camp Operations, and Ask An Engineer.

Location: Acadia Insurance, Westbrook, ME
